R. R. WORKERS TO VOTE ON WAGE CUT

Heads Of 16 Organizations Refuse to Make Decision

VOTE BEFORE SEPT. 1.

Union Chiefs to Ask For Conference With Executives—Points to Uneasiness.

Chicago, July 6.—The membership of 16 railroad labor organizations, including the Big Four Brotherhoods, will decide through a referendum vote by September 1 whether to accept or reject the 12 per cent wage reduction that went into effect on railroads throughout the country July 1, it was decided last night by the chief executives and 1,500 general chairmen of the organizations.

The general chairmen decided that they could not assume responsibility for the wage reduction that was ordered by the Railroad Labor Board.

E. H. Fitzgerald, president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, said that "nothing can be expected of the railroad employes interested in the decision of the Labor Board except to resist to the fullest extent the reduction of rates of certain favorable working conditions."

Organizations represented at the conference last night at which the decision to have a referendum vote was made, follow:

Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomtive Firemen and Enginemen, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Order of Railway Conductors, all known as the Big Four Brotherhoods Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen of America, Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes; Brotherhood of Railway Car Men of America, International Alliance of Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers, International Association of Machinists, International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths, Drop Forgers and Helpers, International Brotherhood of Boilermakers, Iron Shipbuilders and Helpers America, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, International Brotherhood of Firemen and Oilers, Order of Railroad Telegraphers, Switchmen's Union of North America and the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Shop Laborers.

The chief executives and general chairmen of the 16 organizations decided upon their united course of action after the general chairmen of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, Order of Railroad Conductors, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Switchmen's Union of North America told the other organizations that the plan was one which they would follow.

The chairmen authorized their chief executives to make arrangements, if possible, to meet a committee of railway executives to be selected to meet a subcommittee of the organizations "to consider and if possible adjust all matters in controversy."

The chief executives and committees handling these matters were directed in the resolution "to clearly place the representatives of the railway corporations on record as to whether or not they will request further decreases in rates or compensation, the abolition of schedule rules or regulations, or the elimination of time and one half time.

The resolution further stated that the ballot when submitted to the men shall contain an impartial and unbiased recital of all that is involved and the wishes of the men as expressed by ballot shall determine the matter in accordance with the laws of the organizations.

The resolution said that the general chairmen were "required not only to consider a wage reduction but in many instances railroad officers have served notice of their intention to abolish time and one half for overtime in road freight and yard service, and in addition thereto to revise schedules for the benefit of the railroads by abolishing many rules and conditions, which in the aggregate man the loss of much money and the creation of less favorable conditions for the various classes of employes."

"Much uneasiness and unrest exist," the resolution continued, "which cause deep concern and add to the seriousness of the situation and establish a condition of affairs which makes it practically impossible for the general chairmen to take the responsibility of deciding these important questions, for the reason that we hold that no reduction in wages of the various classes is justifiable."

The resolutions directed the executive officers to call to the attention of those in authority 'the fact that certain carriers, namely the Missouri and North Arkansas Railway and the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad, have disregarded the decisions and flouted the authority of the Railroad Labor Board."

The general chairmen said that the resolutions were adopted "despite all these provocative circumstances, coupled with a common desire to refrain from taking action that might precipitate a deplorable situation."

Some Talker

Colored Couple Fined $5 Each In Police Court Today

Spectators in the police court today were given a treat to a very talkative person when a colored woman answering to the name of Ida Hawkins was arraigned to answer a charge of disorderly conduct and fighting, and the man who employes her as housekeeper giving the name of Henry Clay, also was arraigned on the same charge.

Clay told the court he was simply trying to "govern the woman" and simply put his hand on her. An entirely different story was told by the woman which was to the effect that Clay choked her. Clay tried to get a word in edgeways and his efforts were unsuccessful. Justice Snow also made an effort to say something and gave up by saying, "Five Dollars each."

FOUR STILLS IN CHURCH, COLORED DEACON CAUGHT

Norfolk, Va., July 6.—Four stills, a quantity of corn whisky and 150 gallons of mash were seized by police officers this morning in the Disciples of Christ Church (colored). Deacon Willie Brown, in whose room the distilling was being carried on, was arrested.

Brown admitted in police court today that for $25—into the taking of which, he said, he had been tempted by the devil—he had allowed one Henny, also colored, to make use of his room in the church for moonshining. He denied ,however, that he had taken part in the making of the whisky.

When the officers raided the still the deacon hid under the church. In order to give him an opportunity to bring the mysterious Henry to court Police Justice Simmons continued the case until Friday.

SEES AUTOS OF COTTON, COAL DUST AS FUEL

Chicago, July 6.—Automobiles built of a composition of cotton and operated with coal dust for fuel are a possibility, according to Roger W. Babson, statistician, who is visiting here.

"The principal factor in the decline of the automobile business has been the increase in the price of gasoline," he said. "The car of the future will be run by other fuel. Already the use of coal dust has passed the experimental stage.

"Lighter cars must be manufactured to cut down the cost of production and maintenance. A composition of cotton, formaldehyde and glue is being used to produce a material that may solve the problem."

TEACHERS REJECT MOTHER HUBBARD

Des Moines, Iowa, July 6.—School teachers here attending the national education conference today were advised to put a dunce cap on Old Mother Hubbard and chase her out of the schoolroom.

Miss Katherine D. Blake, New York, pleaded with her sister teachers to banish the old time tales from the schools and supplant them with stories about real people.

"Who cares whether Old Mother Hubbard discovered no bones when she went to the cupboard?" asked Miss Blake. "Tales like that and the one about the old lady in the shoe are absurd. Let's get some real people in the copy books."

Miss Blake, who is chairman of the committee on elementary schools, also recommended in her report, which was presented today, that stories about kings and generals in histories be minimized and new inventions and discoveries emphasized.

Training for parenthood in schools was also recommended.

It is built to run on smooth-pave dstreets and, the wheels being equipped with rubber tires, no damage to streets results.

OPERATING AT ITS FULL CAPACITY

National Fruit Product Company Manufactures Vinegar

EMPLOYS 50 MEN

Plant Has a Capacity of 1,500,000 Gallons Annually—Forty Tanks Used For Fermentation.

The plant of the National Fruit Product Company, located in the northwestern section of this city, is at the present time running, at its maximum capacity. Pure apple cider vinegar is the only production of this plant. The apples used in the manufacture of this vinegar are shipped mostly from the Piedmont section of Virginia by way of the Southern Railroad. About 1,500,000 gallons of vinegar are turned out annually at this plant. Shipments are made to the south at the rate of about fifty cars per month. This plant supplies practically all the trade in the southern and southwestern sections of the United States.

Plants of this company are also located in Winchester Va., and in Martinsburg, W. Va. These plants are also engaged in the manufacture of jelly.

Frank Armstrong is president of the company, and Cooper Dawson is the general manager. F. T. Woods is superintendent of the local plant.

The plant is fully equipped, having forty tanks for the fermentation of the cider, each tank having a capacity of 600 barrels. The cider is allowed to ferment for five weeks and is then drawn out and pasturized at a temperature of 140 degrees Farenheit. This pasteurization process kills all germs that may be in the vinegar and also prevents the formation of mother.

An experimental laboratory is also conducted under the supervision of Dr. E. G. Grab, who was formerly assistant to the chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry.

Fifty men are employed and the plant is being run both night and day.

L. C. Straight, the only witness introduced by the State when Larossa was arraigned today before Magistrate Billinglea, said that Larossa's features, figure and clothing were identical with those of one of the men he saw in the murder car But the men were not the same, he said, for the participants in the shooting affair had black, curly hair.

Larosa can boast but few hairs on his head but last night he was a free man.

Disarmament

There is probably not a man or a woman in the United States today, who would not vote for cessation of war for all future time, if opportunity offered. But it is not a question of the wishes of enlightened men and women. War has been the supreme arbitrament of mankind since the beginnings of recorded time. More than this, it is a heritage eons back of our brute ancestry, and probably began with life in the deep-sea ooze. Down through the slow-moving procession of the geologic ages, the climbing of the aspiring vertebrae to a skull that should hold a human brain, was never stayed or interrupted. And all during the infinite stretches of time that the soul of man required to subdue its heredity and environment, one law prevailed—the survival of the fittest.

For thousands of years men have conquered men by force. Good has prevailed over evil, by force. Christianity itself, has more than once enlisted the aid of the strongest batallions. Never till the close of the greatest and deadliest war in history, in 1918, did the world begin to think of final arbitrament by law instead of the sword.

While it is true that nations are something more than mere aggregations of human units—still they partake so much and so deeply of the nature common to all humanity that they are subject to the same general laws and principles that govern their components.

This being true, it is well to remember that it took centuries to stop the practice of dueling. The custom that was coeval with war—which was war between individuals—could not be repressed except by long training and harsh methods. Even in parts of the civilized world today the barbarous practice is in force. The analogy should be somewhat instructive in the study of the question of disarmament. For universal disarmament means cessation of war, or, duels between nations.

Dueling has practically ceased in the United States and in the more enlightened countries of Europe. But, as stated it took centuries of education of the individual before the end was attained. Even now, to enforce the laws, we must have our sheriffs, our marshals, and our policemen.

That the League of Nations was the first real step in history, taken to prevent the dueling between nations, there can be no doubt. And that the world is progressing, spiritually, to a period when law will reign supreme is likewise indubitable. But it will take probably centuries, yet, before we have attained that happy consummation. And, to continue the analogy, there will always probably be need for fleets and armies to police the seas and the criminally inclined territories.

If we could believe that all nations were sincere in their protestations of belief in a perpetual peace, we might lead the world in disarmament. But even were they sincere in their statement, what assurance would we have that some smouldering volcano might not burst into sudden eruption and overwhelm the world again. As it is, Europe is even now perturbed and feverish. England and France every once in a while are within reach of a breaking point in their relations. Middle Europe has been fighting since 1914. Russia is seething with internecine war; nor is the end in sight. Our own relations with Mexico may lead to armed conflict at any time.

Japan is profuse in her promises and prolix in her diplomatic verbiage. How much, or how little, she means, we cannot say. She has rather a poor reputation among nations for honesty and sincerity.

In the meantime, it is best for Uncle Sam to go his own gait, with one hand extended in friendship and amity, and one hand on his hip-pocket.

Japan has now completed the biggest and most dangerous super-dreadnaught afloat. She is building, too, with what appears to be feverish anxiety. This may mean something or it may mean nothing. But we are rather inclined to think the Japanese are too shrewd to be straining their resources to the utmost without some definite apprehension. The Pacific will undoubtedly be the next scene of naval war. This country must not sink to a second place in its control; and to maintain her supremacy, she must have such a navy afloat as will assure her deference in peace and victory in war.

How many are there, who, always busy, always eager to search out the faults of their neighbors, arraign them without mercy to their own judgment—while a truly good mind may be known by its charity and candor; it remembers that "to punish human errors is the province of Heaven:" and that where candor cannot excuse, humanity drops a tear over human weakness.

To Coal Consumers:--

It is not possible to mine, transport and deliver enough coal during the few Fall and Winter months to supply the demand of that period, so it is always necessary for the trade to take in a reasonable amount of coal during the Spring and Summer months in order to avoid a shortage and high prices.

There is being so small a tonnage stored this Summer that it now looks very much as though there might be a pronounced shortage and higher prices when the weather begins to get cold.

As we see very little likelihood of any decrease in the price of high grade domestic coal between this time and cold weather, we are taking this method of urging our customers to take in a reasonable amount of fuel now.

Gains Thirty Pounds Taking Tanlac And Health is Restored After 8 Years Suffering.

"I now weigh one hundred and thirty pounds and can never praise Tanlac enough, for, besides restoring my health, it has actually built me up thirty-two pounds in weight," said Mrs. Ollie Halstead, of 121 East Fourth St., Richmond, Va.

"Before I got Tanlac I had suffered from indigestion for eight years. I had a sour, sick feeling in my stomach all the time, and at times I was so miserable I would just throw myself across the bed and lie there. Bloating caused me such pain and distress that I got to where I didn't know what was going on around me, and my heart palpitated and fluttered until it alarmed me. I was always taking something for constipation, and had such fearful headaches I couldn't hold up my head. I was almost a nervous wreck, and couldn't stand the least little noise. I had to give up all my work, and felt miserable and depressed in spirit all the time.

"While sitting on the porch one Sunday morning, I saw a Tanlac statement in the paper which so impressed me that I read it three times. Well the next day I sent for a bottle of Tanlac, and I began improving right along. I kept taking it until all my troubles were gone and I was just like a new person. However, I take a little Tanlac now from time to time to keep me in good condition, and I consider it the guardian of my health. I am well and happy all the time, and I can't help feeling thankful to Tanlac for the wonderful blessing it has been to me."

Tanlac is sold in Alexandria by Edgar Wantfield, jr.

FEEL EVERY CHANGE OF THE WEATHER?
A Bad Back is Usually Worse During Bad Weather

Is your back like a barometer?
Does it foretell every change of weather?
Does every cold settle on your kidneys?
Bring aching, throbbing pains?
Does it disorder the urine?
Have you thought the kidneys may be calling for help?

Thousands recommend Doan's Kidney Pills.

Alexandria testimony proves their worth. Ask your neighbor:

"Mrs. Walker Campbell, 707 Pendleton St., Alexandria, says. "I caught a cold and it settled on my kidneys. I had such pains I could hardly catch my breath sometimes. When I bent over it was hard to straighten again, the pain was so bad. My kidneys acted very irregularly, especially at night. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Duncan's Drug Store and I was entirely cured, and though that was over two years ago, I have had no return of kidney trouble since."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Campbell had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Better Than—
"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm"

If you remember anything about last year's Chautauqua program you have not forgotten how you and everybody else in the tent laughed and laffed and laft over the play, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." And you said, "I wish I could see it over again." You didn't mean that; you meant, "I wish I could see another one just as good."

Well, it's coming! "Nothing But the Truth" is just as funny as "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," and the plot is better. Just to get ready for the fun, you try, for a day, to tell absolutely "Nothing But the Truth" to every one you meet. When your neighbor asks you what you think of the paint on his house, tell him the truth; don't say, "Why, that looks fine." When you are asked about your opinion on a certain man, be honest now; don't hedge—and after you have tried that for a few hours (you won't last a full day), then you'll be really ready to enjoy this Broadway and London success.

A cast of nine will present it. Special scenery and costumes will add the artistic touches. Have your plans made not to miss it. It's a big feature of the entire week's program at Chautauqua.

Who says that "bargain" tires are what the people want

MOST everybody knows the easy-going sort of man who never takes a tire seriously until he gets a blow-out.

How long he will resist universal tire education is a question.

But this is sure—

More people are finding out every day that between leaving things to luck and getting real economy there is a big difference.

Many a car-owner has come to U. S. Tires because he couldn't afford to keep on paying that difference.

Probably seven out of ten users of U. S. Tires came to them only after they'd had enough of "discounts", "bargain offers", "clearance sales of surplus stocks" and other similar appeals.

They have found economy—and they stick to it.

They pay a real price—not "something off list" that may not mean anything in the first place.

They get fresh, live tires, being made and shipped while this message is being written.

No matter where they live there's a nearby U. S. Dealer with his nearby U. S. Factory Branch.

U. S. Tires keep moving.

No opportunity to get old and dried out. No shifting here and there trying to find a market.

Every U. S. Tire a good tire, wherever you find it anywhere in the country.

Because the U. S. policy is a good policy that serves the car-owner all the time.

Doing the very best for him that human good faith can do.

THE U. S. CHAIN TREAD

One of the few tires of which it may be said that they deliver economy year in and year out and tire after tire.

The U. S. Chain Tread gives sufficient traction on all ordinary road surfaces. It is probably the handsomest, and by all odds the most popular, of the whole U. S. Fabric Tire line.

Address of R. Walton Moore

In The Fairfax Court House, May 30th, 1921, Accepting For Fairfax County The Portrait of George Johnston

They both understood the strenuous nature of the struggle they were bringing on in an unsympathetic House. They were prepared for what happened. As soon as the resolutions were presented for conservation, to quote from a memorandum Henry left for his executors: "Violent debates ensued. Many threats were uttered and much abuse cast on me by the party for submission." He described as "long and warm" the contest which resulted in the resolutions being passed by the smallest possible majority.

It is fortunate that we have the illuminating testimony of Thomas Jefferson as to what transpired. He tells of the scene as marked by confusion and excitement. The two principal figure which appear in his picture are those of Henry and Johnston. It seemed to him that "Henry spoke as Homer wrote." He "never heard such a splendid display of eloquence from any other man." But he is emphatic in recognizing that by Johnston "the learning and logic of the case was maintained." Says the Jefferson narrative: "Torrents of sublime eloquence from Henry, backed by the solid reasoning of Johnston prevailed. The last and strongest resolution, however, was carried by a single vote. The debate on it was most bloody. I was then but a student at William and Mary College, and stood at the door of communication between the House and the lobby (for as yet there was no gallery) during the whole of the debate and vote; and I well remember that after the members of the division were told and declared by the Chair, Peyton Randolph, the King's Attorney General, came out of the door where I was standing and said as he entered the lobby; 'By God, I would have given five hundred guineau for a single vote.'" One sentence from Henry's speech has survived, his exclamation that "Caesar had his Brutus—Charles I his Cromwell and—George III may profit by their example. If this be treason make the most of it." As he named George III he was interrupted by Speaker Robinson crying out "Treason," and that cry was echoed throughout the House. Waiting until order was restored, the tradition is that he drew himself up to his full height and defiantly continued his unreserved comparison of the English King with the tyrants who had suffered for their misdeeds, and scornfully left the charge of treason to be dealt with by those who had made it. Lord Fauquier, the Governor of the Colony, in a letter to the Lords of Trade, written on June 5th, expressing regret and humiliation at the conduct of the House, severely criticized Henry's words. "In the course of the debate," he wrote, "I have heard that very indecent language was used by Mr. Henry, a young lawyer who had not been but about a month in the House, who carried all the young members with him." One of the young members who followed Henry and Johnston was the man who was to become the leader of the American Revolution and the first President of the Republic.

There is no report of the argument of Johnston in favor of the resolutions, but we can think of him as calmly summarizing the facts and precedents, and contending with irresistible force that the Stamp Tax was not only inexpedient and the beginning of an oppressive policy, but that it was in violation of the fundamental principles of English liberty. We can think of him as urging many of the same considerations that were urged upon the House of Commons less than a decade later by Edmund Burke in his wonderful speeches on "Taxation in America" and "Conciliation with America." Wm. Wirt, himself a remarkable lawyer and orator, and for a longer time than any other man Attorney General of the United States, in his account of the struggle over the resolutions, describes Johnston as "a lawyer highly respected in his profession, a scholar distinguished for vigor of intellect cogency of argument, firmness of character, love of order, and devotion to the cause of natural liberty. In short, exactly guided by his love of the cause and the broad and solid basis of his understanding, to uphold the magnificent structure of Henry's eloquence."

Except for Henry the House would have adjourned without taking a definite stand against the enforcement of the Tax. Except for Johnston the resolutions condemning the Tax would have failed to pass.

Their joint effort having triumphed, they could well be indifferent to the fact that on the next day, when Henry and other members had already left Williamsburg, some step was taken that prevented the Journal from showing the passage of the fifth resolution. But whatever might might be said or done, it had been adopted along with the other resolutions and the situation could not be materially affected by any subsequent attempt to reverse the action of the House. The most powerful Colony had made plain announcement to the world of its purpose not to submit to any legislation by the British Government constituting, in its opinion, a serious infringement of its rights. The example of Virginia had an immediate and decisive effect on other colonies. The step taken by Virginia started an agitation that led to the Declaration of Independence and the Revolution.

What had occurred established Henry's leadership and his fame grew as time went on. Johnston returned to his County and died the next year, leaving the scene before the new order of things was fully accomplished. Two of his sons served in the Army of the Revolution, one of them on the staff of the Commander in Chief, and many of his descendants have rendered valuable service to the public.

The portrait is an authentic picture of the man whose memory we honor and it seems to me to give a vivid impression of the high qualities with which he was endowed. While the County exists, those who look upon the portrait will recall the career of the Fairfax citizen who, next to Washington and Mason, is best entitled to be remembered, of those who dignified and adorned its colonial history.

SPORTS

It was a very exciting game of ball Saturday, the Destroyers A. C., went down to defeat before the Rose and A. C., 6 to 4. Graham started on the hill for the Destroyers, but after a fierce bombardment in the sixth inning he was retired in favor of "Lefty" Stover, who had little better luck, as they knocked his delivery all over the lot. He didn't seem to have anything on the ball but the cover. Sullivan pitched a good game for the winners. The batting of Ludlow and Cockrell featured the game, the latter getting a home run. Lane, playing at third base for the Destroyers, was severely spiked. His absence in the line up will be felt.

Sunday the Destroyers journeyed to Benning, D. C., and defeated the Benning A. C., by the close score of 3 to 2. Graham pitching for the D's, pitched winning ball until the fifth inning, when two runs were scored off two hits and an error. He retired in favor of Snellings, who had the Benning lads guessing. He had curves a plenty and they nearly broke their backs swinging at the ball. In the seventh inning the Destroyers got two runs and two hits and a walk. In the ninth inning they won the game on two walks and a muffed ball. Lash and Ludlow on bases and pitcher Snellings knocked a ball to the shortstop, which would have been an easy out, but he seemed to be paralyzed suddenly for he could not pick the ball up and Lash came in with the winning run.

Monday the Destroyers journeyed to Cherrydale and were defeated by the Cherrydale team to the score 1) to 5. The game was better than the score indicated. "Smokeball" Snellings twirled a winning game of ball but his team mates did not back him up. Cockrell made a pretty shoestring catch which would have done credit to Ty Cobb. Snellings fanned ten men, hit two and walked two. Wood, playing third base for the D's, sprained his ankle in the eighth inning. The Destroyers are now without a dependable third base man.

Sunday the Destroyers will play the Warwick A. C., on the High School grounds. Come out and look these boys over. Game starts promptly at 1:30 p. m.

LETTERS OF GRATITUDE

Eloquent language and illustrations in advertising may appeal to many, but after all it is the homely, sincere letters from women overflowing with heartfelt gratitude for health restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, that convince other suffering women that there is a medicine that will help them also. Many such letters are being published in this paper from day to day, and it is to any woman's advantage who suffers from female ailments in any form to give this old fashioned root and herb remedy a trial.

HOW IRON STARVATION OF THE BLOOD RUINS A WOMAN'S HEALTH—

AND MAY MAKE HER WRINKLED, AGED AND CAREWORN, GIVING HER FACE A PALE, HAGGARD, SICKLY APPEARANCE

For want of iron you may practically be an old woman at from 30 to 35, weak, downhearted and "all fagged out." You may be in such a highly nervous irritable state that you "go all to pieces" on the slightest provocation, while at 50 or so with good health and plenty of iron in your blood, you may still be young in feeling and so attractive and full of life as to defy detection of your real age.

It's not always the youngest woman that is most sought after—there is an indescribably alluring fascination in the rosy cheek, the inviting lips and sparkling eyes of a blood filled with iron. You may be afflicted with iron starvation of the blood and not know it, just as thousands of other women are.

It is said that about one person in three in America today suffers more or less from malnutrition—lack of nourishment, which is caused not by lack of food, but in many cases, by lack of sufficient iron in the blood to enable you to get the strength and nourishment out of your food.

Indoor life, over-eating and modern methods cooker are sapping the iron from the blood hundreds of thousands of women. Our forefathers, to whom history refers as a nation of blooded Americans, ate the husks of grains the skins and peels of vegetables and other coarse foods rich in strength giving organic iron, which the modern woman does not get.

To make up for the great loss of iron caused by the life woman is compelled to lead she should eat more such iron-containing vegetables and fruits as spinach and baked apples and take organic iron like Nuxated Iron from time to time to help enrich her blood and revitalize her worn-out, exhausted nerves.

Nuxated Iron represents organic iron in such a highly condensed form that one dose of it is estimated to be approximately equivalent (in organic iron content) to eating half a quart of spinach, one quart of green vegetables or half a dozen apples. It's like taking extract of beef instead of eating pounds of meat.

Over 4,000,000 people annually are using Nuxated Iron. It will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. It often increases the bodily and mental vigor, strength and endurance of weak, nervous, "run-down" folks in two weeks' time. Your money will be refunded by the manufacturers if you do not obtain satisfactory results. Beware of substitutes. Nuxated Iron comes in tablets only—never in liquid form. Always look for the word "Nuxated" on every package and the letters N I I on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

TRINKLE CAMPAIGN

Richmond, July 6.—Senator E. eL Trinkle continues his personal campaign for Governor with unlessened activity. With the majority of daily newspapers in the State against him, he is getting his message across to the voters in a strenuous speaking campaign that has not been equalled in Virginia in recent years. Senator Trinkle speaks form one to five times daily, and makes a good impression everywhere.

For the past week the Senator has been in the 8th District, where he had enthusiastic meetings in Alexandria, and in Prince William, Fauquier, Loudoun and Fairfax counties, and left behind him large numbers of friends and converts. His sound logic, his evident knowledge of the State's affairs, his comprehensive discussion of the State's finances, and the personality of the man, convince his hearers that he is the logical business manager for the State that the times demand.

Mass meetings of citizens in Roanoke, Norfolk, Suffolk and Portsmouth will feature Senator Trinkle's campaign this week. Following his Fourth of July speech at Rocky Mount, the Roanoke Trinkle Club has scheduled a big rally of his supporters for the night of July 5th. Wednesday he speaks in Botetourt and Craig counties. On Thursday a mass meeting of Norfolk citizens will be held in the Academy of Music, and the Norfolk Headquarters anticipate that the Senator's final speech in that city efbore the primary will feature one of the most enthusiastic and successful meetings of his entire campaign. Friday and Saturday will be spent in the counties of the 2nd District with mass meetings at Suffolk on Friday evening at Portsmouth on Saturday evening. Senator Trinkle has large and active following in these cities. On Saturday Senator Trinkle will be the guest of the Imperial Shrine in Norfolk.

Trinkle supporters in Southwest Virginia are impatiently awaiting his return to that section, where he will campaign during the two weeks preceding the primary. Leaders from every county will unite to give him a warm welcome when he returns to his home district. The Senator will continue his active campaign in the 9th, with speeches in every county until the day of the primary.

WILL SING AT INAUGURATION

Richmond, July 6.—It is admitted at Trinkle Headquarters in this City that Senator Trinkle has promised that when he is inaugurated Governor of Virginia on February 1st, the Alexandria Quartette will sing for the occasion.

It is also admitted that Senator Trinkle said in his Alexandria speech that it was signalized by the best introduction he has received in Virginia. The introductory remarks were by Miss Lucy Graves of this city.

THEIR DRESSES FLAMING, GIRLS FOURTH VICTIMS.

San Jose, Cal., July 6.—Two little girls, Gladys Flathman and Joyce McLaughlin, played with fireworks yesterday at their homes in different sections of the city, in almost identical results.

Their dresses caught fire and they suffered severe burns, despite the efforts of neighbors to save them. Gladys died in a San Francisco hospital last night. No hope is held out ofr Joyce.

If you want a good paper subscribe to the Gazette.

9 YEAR OLD GIRL CHEATS DEATH IN 35-FOOT FALL

New York, July 6.—Nine year old Anna Cunningham fell off a station platform in front of an elevated train in Brooklyn yesterday. In falling she missed the approaching cars, dropped between the rim of the platform and the track, glanced off an electric feed wire and landed on the street pavement, 35 feet below.
